We are delighted to welcome members and guests this evening. We hope you have an enjoyable and informative experience.

We are excited to announce the SPF Lifetime Honorary Membership Awards to be presented at the dinner by BPF President, Jessica Hardman. Welcome from the Chair

Stuart Oag

Chair, Scottish Property Federation
Director, Drum Property Group

A warm welcome to our eleventh SPF annual dinner, held once again at the EICC. I would like to take this opportunity to thank our event sponsors Bank of Scotland, CBRE and TFT, without whose support these events simply cannot be put on. On a personal note, I am delighted we are again supporting Spifox who continue to do great work for children's projects across Scotland. I urge you all to support tonight's Spifox collection.

We are joined this evening by one of the highest profile politicians of his generation, the Rt Hon Michael Gove and I am looking forward greatly to Michael's after dinner insights to the world of politics and how our industry relates to it.

In a first for the SPF, we will also hear from a serving UK Cabinet Minister with the new Secretary of State for Scotland, the Rt Hon Ian Murray MP delivering a keynote address. I would like to welcome Ian to our event and I look forward to strengthening our engagements with the Scotland Office and the new UK Government.

It is the SPF's job to represent your views, issues and proposals for how we take Scotland's built environment and wider economy forward. It is a pleasure to see so many representatives from both the UK and Scottish Parliaments and from the key stakeholders leading our major cities and urban centres. I would like to thank my vice-chair, Jonathan Guthrie, the Robertson Group and our Scottish Cities Alliance partners, for hosting our local authority leaders and guests here tonight.

We meet at a time of major challenges for our industry. Too many companies in the construction industry are filing for administration. Finance remains globally competitive and challenging. And we have significant concerns that the Scottish policy framework needs to be better aligned to understand the investment markets, if we are to see improvements for our built environment including much needed homes, better quality offices, improved retail and leisure facilities and better logistics capabilities. That said, I remain optimistic. Your SPF has seen an unprecedented period of political engagement evidenced by the wide political presence in attendance this evening. The relationships we're building strengthens our position as a trusted and reasoned advisor to policy makers, and will ensure our collective voice is heard loud and clear.

This evening also allows us the opportunity to thank two of our long-standing supporters and industry leaders at SPF. I am delighted that our BPF President, Jessica Hardman, is here to present the awards and I look forward to the announcements later this evening.

I thank you for your strong support for this evening's event and I wish you and your guests a superb evening of informed insights, networking and hospitality.

Stuart

After-dinner Speaker

The Rt Hon Michael Gove

Former Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities

From 2017 until 2019, Michael served as Secretary of State for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. After the Conservative party leadership contest Michael was appointed Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster with responsibility for Brexit preparedness. Post 2019 General Election, Michael was re-elected as MP for Surrey Heath and reappointed Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster. From September 2021 – July 2022, Michael served as Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities and Minister for Intergovernmental Relations.

In October 2022, Michael was reappointed by the Prime Minister Rishi Sunak as Secretary of State for Levelling Up, Housing & Communities and Minister for Intergovernmental Relations.

He also writes a weekly column in The Times.

Keynote Speaker

The Rt Hon Ian Murray MP

Secretary of State for Scotland and Scottish Labour MP for Edinburgh South

Ian Murray was appointed Secretary of State for Scotland on 5 July 2024. He has been the Member of Parliament for Edinburgh South continuously since May 2010.

Ian was first elected to public office in 2003 when he won a local council seat in Edinburgh. Seven years later, he was elected as the MP for Edinburgh South, and was the only Labour MP in Scotland to retain their seat in the 2015 and 2019 General Elections.

Ian served as the Shadow Secretary of State for Scotland from 2015-2016 and from 2020-2024. He has also been the Parliamentary Private Secretary to the Shadow Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport, the Shadow Minister for Employee Relations, Consumer and Postal Affairs, and the Shadow Minister for Trade and Investment.

Ian has served on the Business, Innovation and Skills Select Committee (2010-2012) and Foreign Affairs Select Committee (2016-2020).
